Celebrate
SIGNE SKOTT COOPER HALL GRAND OPENING
Welcome to Signe Skott Cooper Hall, the new home for nursing at the University of Wisconsin–Madison. Thank you for joining us to celebrate the opening of this stunning facility and the School of Nursing’s 90th anniversary. This marks the beginning of a new era for the school—one I am certain will present exciting opportunities as we take on the grand challenges of health care in the 21st century.

Cooper Hall is the realization of a long-held dream in which nursing faculty, staff, and students at UW–Madison inhabit an environment designed expressly for nursing’s purposes. Dean Emerita Vivian Littlefield took the first critical steps in the pursuit of this dream, securing a site and the very first gifts to be put toward the construction of Cooper Hall. Other dreamers followed—none more important than Signe Skott Cooper herself. Signe’s lifelong commitment to the University of Wisconsin, and to its nursing school, inspired others to envision the future as she did.

And inspired they were. Building a new home for nursing at Wisconsin ceased to be a dream and became a cause ... a cause that would capture the imagination of many others. And the momentum grew until the day that Signe and her devoted friends and admirers, campaign volunteers, campus and community leaders, faculty, staff and, perhaps most importantly, our students saw Cooper Hall begin to rise.

As Eleanor Roosevelt said, “The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams.”

Now, the School of Nursing charts its course for the next 100 years. Signe Skott Cooper Hall will allow this distinguished school to build on its past, harness the energy of the present, and create the future of care. The venue has changed, but the core values—research and innovation, leadership in education, collaboration, service, and outreach—remain the same. I hope that one day each of us will reflect on this moment in time and see it as the beginning of a brilliant future—for nurses in Wisconsin and beyond and for those whom we are committed to serve.

Thank you for joining in the celebration and, as always, On, Wisconsin!

Katharyn A. May, PhD, RN, FAAN
Dean and Professor

“I hope that one day each of us will reflect on this moment in time and see it as the beginning of a brilliant future—for nurses in Wisconsin and beyond and for those whom we are committed to serve.”
The Journey from 1402 to 701

1924 – In Madison, the University of Wisconsin establishes the first collegiate nursing program in the state and one of the earliest in the country. The program was based on the belief that a rigorous education was essential for effective nursing practice. Helen Denne Schulte is appointed the program’s first director.

1926 – The Nurses Dormitory at 1402 University Avenue opens. Dormitory space limits class enrollment.

1927 – The school awards nursing certificates to its first graduating class of eleven students.

1938 – Christina Murray is appointed director.

1943 – The school participates in the U.S. Cadet Corps program during WWII, providing students with tuition, books, and uniforms.

1949 – Margery MacLachlan is appointed director.

1950 – The nursing degree title is changed from BS (Hygiene) to BS (Nursing).

1959 – Helen Bunge is appointed director. During her tenure, the school becomes an autonomous unit within the university, and she is titled a dean.

1960 – Male students are admitted to the program. The Nurses Dormitory closes as a student residence.

1964 – The school offers the first graduate nursing program in the UW System, with a beginning focus on pediatrics.

1970 – Valencia Prock is appointed dean.

1975 – The school initiates Wisconsin’s first nurse practitioner program in geriatrics.
1977 – The UW Board of Regents grants permission to the school to establish a doctoral nursing program.

1978 – The School of Nursing becomes the first unit to occupy the new Clinical Science Center, funded in part with a $4 million federal grant to construct new nursing education facilities.

1984 – Vivian Littlefield is appointed dean; she leads the school through a time of substantial progress in academics and research.

1994 – Faculty and staff discuss the need for expanded space and consider a move to WARF (the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation building). They choose instead to wait until the School of Nursing can get its own building.

1996 – The Collaborative Nursing Program, a partnership of five UW System nursing schools, uses distance learning technology to allow practicing nurses to complete a BS in nursing. The program was renamed BSN@Home in 2006.

Dean Littlefield establishes the Dean’s Club to recognize generous contributors and proposes the idea for a separate School of Nursing building for which she actively seeks funds.

1997 – Signe Skott Cooper makes an estate gift commitment designating 50 percent to the School of Nursing’s new building.

1998 – Elizabeth Spaeth and Barbara Gruendemann make the first leadership level gifts toward a new building; Valencia Prock makes the first foundation builder level gift.

1999 – Dean Littlefield begins negotiations with UW Hospital and Clinics and the University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics and the UW School of Medicine and Public Health make lead gift commitments.

2000 – Signe Skott Cooper’s sister Hilda passes away; the following year, Cooper donates her sister’s estate to the school to develop a historical suite in the new building.

2001 – Katharyn May is appointed dean. The school requests plans for a $30 million facility to be built in 2007.

2003 – Under the leadership of Bev Steinhoff, the Class of 1953 begins fundraising for the new nursing building as a 50th reunion project. Subsequent classes follow suit creating the “1402 Club.” University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics and the UW School of Medicine and Public Health make lead gift commitments.

2006 – A Historical Tea honoring Signe Skott Cooper serves as a “soft launch” for the new building campaign. Inspired by the tea, Mary Behrens makes a leadership gift.

2008 – The Campaign Steering Committee is formed, chaired by Linda Procci.

2009 – The Power of Nursing Campaign kicks off in conjunction with the annual Littlefield Leadership Lecture. Gifts from the Oscar Rennebohm Foundation and Connie Curran are announced, bringing the total to $12.3 million.
October 2010 – A sellout crowd at the Memorial Union Theater welcomes former UW–Madison chancellor Donna Shalala, who keynotes the Littlefield Leadership Lecture to announce the Institute of Medicine’s landmark report, The Future of Nursing.

February 2011 – UW Athletics announces that it will charge admission for the spring football game to benefit the School of Nursing.

March 2011 – Governor Walker includes the new nursing building in the 2011-2013 state capital budget.

February 2012 – The UW Board of Regents approves naming the new building after Signe Skott Cooper.

April 2012 – The school breaks ground and construction begins.

December 2013 – The Power of Nursing Campaign concludes with more than $26 million in gifts for facilities, scholarships, and faculty and program support.

August 2014 – Construction is complete! The School of Nursing moves into its new home in Signe Skott Cooper Hall, 701 Highland Avenue.
Biography of Signe Skott Cooper

Signe was one of the school’s most ardent and dedicated supporters, and her long career in Wisconsin nursing education embodied the essence of the Wisconsin Idea. She was one of nursing’s greatest national resources and helped make the profession what it is today.

– Dean Katharyn A. May, UW–Madison School of Nursing

An alumnus of and an instructor at the University of Wisconsin School of Nursing (later known as the UW–Madison School of Nursing), Cooper, Cert.’42, BS’48, MEd, RN, FAAN, was a leader in professional nursing throughout her career and led the development of innovative programs over the next decade, including extension courses in death and dying and the care of the elderly. She wrote two nursing textbooks and edited three others. In recognition of her leadership, she received numerous awards:

- the President’s Award from the American Association for the History of Nursing for her contributions to the field (1981)
- the Pioneer Award from the Adult Education Association
- American Nurses Association Honorary Recognition Award for her leadership in continuing nursing education and election to the American Academy of Nursing Distinguished Achievement Award from the Nurses Alumni Organization in 1984, making her its first recipient

Cooper was inducted into the American Nurses Association’s Hall of Fame (2000) and named a “Living Legend” by the American Academy of Nursing (2003).

Following the death of her sister Hilda in 2000, Cooper donated her sister’s estate and a significant gift of her own to the UW Foundation to support the construction of a new facility for the School of Nursing. Her gift, the largest individual gift received in the school’s campaign, combined with lead gifts from the University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics, University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health, and the Rennebohm Foundation, totaled $8.2 million, nearly half of the $17.4 million in private support for the facility.

In her 2006 memoir, Cooper wrote: “I have told Dean Katharyn May that my goal is to live long enough to see the completion of the school’s new home. What a thrill that will be!” Though Cooper passed away on July 16, 2013, she did live to witness the groundbreaking and placement of the top beam for Signe Skott Cooper Hall, named for her. Cooper will be there in memory and spirit for everyone who walks through the building for many years to come.

Power of Nursing Campaign

The University of Wisconsin–Madison School of Nursing started receiving gifts for a new building in 1998 and began the comprehensive Power of Nursing Capital Campaign in January of 2006 to include all gifts made to the School of Nursing through December 31, 2013 as well as those to Cooper Hall. The campaign raised more than $26 million from nearly 3,000 individuals and organizations. The School of Nursing wishes to express its gratitude to everyone who contributed to the campaign.
